

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A zoom rate demand is provided with characteristic switches for switching its output characteristics. Each of the characteristic switches is assigned to a corresponding output characteristic, and contents of the characteristics to be assigned to the characteristic switches can be changed by an operator by means of a personal computer.